WILL THE PALAIS ROTAL OPENING TERMINATE SATURDAY

EMPHATICALLY AND POSITIVELY--YES

THE PALAIS BOYAL PROPRIETOR DESIRES TO THANK HIS PATRO NS. PORT, WHEREBY THE LAST "OPENING" TO OCCUR HERE HAS PROVED BY FAR THE MOST SUCCESSFUL OF PIFTEEN YEARS.

IN ANNOUNCING THAT THE "OPENING" WILL POSITIVELY TERMI-NATE SATURDAY, JUNE & HE BEGS TO REMIND FRIENDS AND PA-TRONS THAT TER DISTRIBUTION OF GOODS OFFERED AS SOUVENIRS HAS BEEN SO MUCH GREATER THAN USUAL THAT HE CANNOT IN JUSTICE TO HIMSELF CONTINUE THEIR OFFERING AFTER CLOSING

IN THUS PUBLICLY THANKING HIS CLERKS FOR THE HEARTY AND FAITHFUL PERFORMANCE OF THE EXTRA WORK ATTENDING THE "OPENING" HE THINKS THE DISTRIBUTION AMONG THEM OF TICK-ETS FOR ALBAUGH'S THEATER TONIGHT ARE BUT SOUVENIRS THAT HAVE BEEN WELL EARNED.

To the Editor of The Evening Star:

Designed the Top of the Monument. Recently you published an article on the Washington monument. Therein it is stated that the monument grew; that no one person is the designer of it as it stands today. That is

'Mrs. Harrison's plan' (!)
In 1875 or thereabout I made the acquaintance of Dr. Eleke, then the president of the Monument Association, and had quite a correspondence with him. What I evidently influenced was the design of the top. In the old plan, as seen on all the cuts of the monument, the top was to be finished with the lines of the Bunker Hill monument. What I suggested, made a drawing of and advocated in conversation and by letter was the sharper pointing of the ages. And, further, while I did not suggest the aluminum top, I did suggest, as can readily be seen by the papers of the time, to do more: to not only put a bright point on the very top, but to

This, however, was ridiculed and referred to as a desire on the part of the person presenting the design to erect a "cast-fron roof over the whole monument." This was about as near to describing the design suggested as if the writer

But what I can say is that the Monument Association were intending to finish after the lines of the Bunker Hill monument, and that I had numerous interviews with Dr. Blake, the president of the association, to whom I presented my sketch embracing this design of apex, together with my plea in writing for the adoption of this idea, and the monument, as we see, was thus finished in accordance

Mr. Pinkney is still recorded "absent withou leave" on the rolls of the jail, and has not vet indicated to Sheriff Middleton any intention o returning in time to participate in the cere-monies in the jail yard here on the 50th instant. Sheriff Middicton is particularly desirons of having Mr. Pinkney take an active part in those ceremonies, but unless a much more pressing invitation is extended to Mr. Pinkney than so far been given him by the authorities it is safe to say that Mr. Barber will be the one leading figure on the occassion. Seriously speaking, the people of Marlbord and of this vicinity have arrived at the conclusion that Pinkney's greatest security against rehave numerous points on the angles of the apex and carried to the very top, "the whole forming, as it were, a crown that would sparkle in term is the masteriy inactivity of the authorities. I cannot even say that I applied these lines to the monument, for I had not the authority.

But what I can say is that the Manuscratter of the same of the s This is argued on the supposition that the murderer still remains in the vicinity of Marl-But the man has not been seen so far as is authentically known to the authorities since last Friday morning, nearly one week ago, when it is claimed he was seen on Mr. Duley's place, a few miles from here. So Pinkney may have quietly slipped off and be now safely secreted many miles away. Indeed, if he is the shrewd cunning being the people here credit him with being, he in all probability has caused his friends to lead the authorities to believe him still in the neighborhood, while he, unseen unsuspicioned, has made his to some part of the state or county unthou of by his pursuers. That Pinkney, if still in a mile of the house.

Back of the house ran a wooden "run" and into this the murderer could have escaped unseen, and once in it could have made his way under its cover back to the swamps beyond.

It is the fairest presumption, supposing Pinkney to still be in this vicinity, that he would visit his wife and children there, and yet not one of the pursuers were then keeping the house or woman under cover.

Of course neither Pinkney's wife nor either of the other there was a supposed to the pursuers.

DANGER OF A SPLIT

As the Result of the Action on the Briggs Case Discussed - The Doctor Will Not Talk, but Dr. Herrick Johnson Submits

In all probability the general assembly will adjourn at the close of this evening's session. This was the scheme and plan upon which the moderator and the leading men among the commissioners were working today, both during the morning and the afternoon. By ending their sessions this evening a large portion of the ministers who are commissioners will be able to get home in time to be in their pulpits next Sunday, and this is what many of them particularly desire. In the Presbyterian churches all over the country the deliberations and the condusions of the great ecclesiastical body now in session in this city will furnish the sub-ject of the discourses. There have been many and very important issues up for settlement before the assembly, but the general opinion is that they have been settled in such an amicable manner as to leave behind them no danger of hard feeling or contention.

The commissioners to the general assembly between the three was tainful party to the manner as to leave behind them no danger of his Bowle, Sitato's Attorney Brancht as great of Tay Stars's representative that the was the commissioners to the general assembly assembly between the party of the commissioners to the general assembly assembly that the had long ago closely investigated the runner, but had declared the great of the commissioners to the general assembly. There is no doubt that many of the service of the purpose of giving the story the closest possible of the commissioners to the general assembly. of centuries ago would have spent the day wordering as to the temperature of boiling oil or the sensations attendant upon decapitation seemed today as little concerned about the redict as one could well expect of a man who has never for a moment appeared to treat the matter lightly or to belittle the seriousness of his position.

Verily, times have changed since the days when herefices were burned at the stake or treated in any other such indelicate and inconsiderate manner. Still it must be admitted that in the debate upon the case yesterday there was shown much of the same spirit that urged men on to be the ones to apply the torch to the fagots heaped about the feet of the heretic. Ever since the assembly began Dr. Briggs has made his head quarters at the Cochran and it was there that a STAR reporter saw him this morning. He was asked if he cared to say anything for publication as to what he thought of the verdict.

Dr. Briggs looked worried and tired. For several days past he has been decidedly unwell. Yesterday he was obliged to be excused from attendance upon the assembly and he was not present last evening when the vote was taken. At the same hotel are many of the men who have stood by him during the long trial, and to judge by the cordial reception they gate him this morning there was no possibility of their going back on him.

One thing seems to be certain, and that is that Union Seminary will continue to stand by Dr. Briggs. Dr. Herrick Johnson of Chicago, who is regarded as one of the ablest commissioners in the assembly, was asked this morning what he thought of the final results of the decision and sentence in the Briggs case. He said:

"My judgment is that the sentence, whatever it is, will be accepted by the church after the protest from some parts of it as to the constitutional questions involved, and from other parts of the church as to the severity of the sentence.

"While it unquestionably settles all the constitutional questions that have been raised in the progress of the trial, so far as the decision of the supreme court can settle chain, it will not satisfy or give rest to the church concerning these constitutional questions, such as the standing of a committee of prosecution, the power given this companies of the prosecution, the power given this companies of the prosecution of the supreme court can settle design of the supreme court can settle design of the supreme court can settle can be church concerning these constitutional questions, such as the standing of a committee of prosecution, the power given this companies of the prosecution o decision of the constitutional question will make a presbytery slow to appoint a committee whose powers will be supreme and transcend its own. It will be regarded by many in the church as a restriction of liberty in prosecuting critical and scholarly research.

"It will be considered as narrowing the limits within which there may be independence of conviction and tentative belief.

"There will be wide unrest with respect to some important questions involved in the trial. Among others that which seems to have determined the inerrancy of the original autograph Scriptures, determination concerning which will not be accepted, will be looked upon as the declaration of a new doctrine, and is beyond the power of the church there will be no challenge of the finding of the court as it respects the guilt of the party charged with certain contraventions of the confessional doctrine.
